

MANAGEMENT

Renovare Fuels is represented by a first-class management team with a proven track record in the waste and energy sector. The team combines operational excellence, state-of-the-art technology knowledge and management best practices in cleantech.

KEVIN GODLINGTON

Chief Executive Officer

Kevin left the British Army in 2004 after ten years of service in the Royal Engineers and United Kingdom Special Forces. Since leaving the Army Kevin has founded several charities and a number of successful environmentally and socially responsible companies, overseeing them from start-up to orderly exit. Kevin leads investment teams in setting up large-scale development businesses, providing highly proven management teams and diminishing execution risk in high barrier to entry environments.

Kevin is a specialist in developing pioneering businesses into well-established, highly valued entities. His previously founded projects are now valued at over £70m. He has extensive experience of integrating new environmental practices into mature business models, and managing large-scale operating plants in challenging terrains. Kevin's founded projects currently employ over 1000 people.

An active ambassador and patron for service and veterans charities in the UK, a founding member of the advisory board for Tickets for Troops with David Cameron, and avid fundraiser for Combat Stress.

Matthew is one of the most active investors in the clean technology space, and has an established research catchment of over £6bn annually. Over the years he has had considerable success in both asset management and corporate finance fields, working across three continents with some of the largest strategic partners on the French, US, Malaysian and Singapore stock exchanges.

Matthew is a director of US Cleantech Holdings Inc., a company specialising in the development and commercialisation of the next generation of clean technologies. His projects encompass several of the world's foremost research institutions, internationally acclaimed scientists, as well as leading strategic partners in industry.

Matthew has direct experience of integrating and commercialising technologies on a global scale, as well as designing and implementing investment strategies of £100m and above. His investor network consists of prominent private investors, family offices, sovereign wealth funds, institutions, and major corporations.
